ACUTE PAINFUL EYE

Red eye is a very common symptom that most of us may have experienced at least once in a lifetime. However, some causes of red eye can be sight threatening and could potentially lead to permanent visual loss if treatment is delayed. What are the symptoms to look for, and when should you see a specialist?

Come join us for this public forum on 24 August 2024 to learn more about the causes and treatments available.
